Cadets in Military Drill.

One of the features of the year at Gonzaga was the reorganization of the Gonzaga Cadets, a famous military orof many years ago. On Feb fuary 8 they were reorganized. The progress they have made in four progress they have made in four months in military drill was demonstrated as a feature of the commencement program with a drill on the college campus, witnessed and applauded by about 3,000 of their friends. By compliance with laws of Congress Gonsac College enjoys the distinction of being one of the officially listed military educational institutions in the United States supplied with arms and equipment of the regular army patterns and with an officer of the regular stray assigned as a military instructor. Among the advantages are participation in the Students Reserve Officers Corps. At the end of his course the student enters the Student Reserve Corps, being attached for six months as additional subaltern officer to some regular army organization with a salary allowance.

FISH RECEIPTS FALL OFF.

As a Consequence Prices Advance Considerably Over Last Week. For some reason unknown to the sea-at the wharf, the receipts of fish of all kinds have fallen off to a considerable extent. In fact, some of the dealers assert that there is less than half the quantity of desirable fish on the market today than there was a week ago. As a consequence, prices, with few exceptions, are conprices, with few exceptions, are considerably higher, while the demand continues good. Gray trout, which a week ago sold at $7.50 a barrel, are today quoted at $22.50 a barrel, and sea bass are two and a half times as high this week as they were last. This morning prices ranged about as follows: Spanish mackerel, 12½ cents a pound; blues, 13 to 15 cents a pound; rock, 12½ cents a pound; flounders, 7 to 8 cents a pound; halibut, 14 to 16 cents a pound; pike, 10 to 12½ cents a pound; white perch, 20 cents to $1 a bunch; catfish, 25 to 50 cents a bunch; gray trout, $6.50 to $22.50 a barrel; croakers, $7 to $7.50 a barrel; butterfish, $6 a barrel, and sea bass, $18 to $22 a barrel. Soft crabs are selling in large lots at 65 to 75 cents a dozen; hard crabs at $1.50 to $2 a barrel, and clams at 75 to 90 cents a hundred.

The President was so strongly determined to make a platform declaration on the point which would raise a clear-cut issue that if persistent opposition had developed he intended to ask the convention to remain in assign until he could veloped he intended to ask the conven-tion to remain in session until he could go to St. Louis and make a personal ap-peal to the delegates.

Received Returns With Friends. President Wilson last night received ination with relatives and friends at the White House. Special wire faciliwith every development. Mrs. Ollie James, wife of the permanent chairman of St. Louis, convention; Mrs.

man of St. Louis, convention; Mrs. Key Pittman, wife of Senator Pittman of Nevada; Representative Cullop of Indiana and Secretary and Mrs. Tumuity were among those gathered at the White House to receive returns. During the forty-five-minute demonstration for the President, which followed Judge Wescott's speech, a telephone wire connecting the convention hall with the White House switch-board was opened, and the President, Mrs. Wilson, Secretary Tumuity and others of the White House party listened. The applause and cheering could be heard plainly.

It was at the conclusion of the demonstration that the President retired. Early in the evening, while the convention was assembling, the President and Mrs. Wilson took a five-mile walk in a driving rainstorm. Attired in rubber coats and hats they make a circuit through the capital parks, returning to the White House after 10 o'clock and after the night session at St. Louis had begun. 1b. In The Sunday Magazine Why Are Tramps?

E VERY housewife who has ever passed out a meal to a hungry-looking tramp will be interested in F. Addington Bruce's article in our next Sunday Magazine. Mr. Bruce says that every tramp is afflicted with a nervous disorder which makes him shun all work and which instills an intense craving to keep wandering. He claims that "hoboes" should be sent to the hospital instead of to the town lockup.

A Life for a Life

MARION PUGH READ has written one of the best of her short stories for this issue. Two Kentucky mountain girls face the crises of their lives in a little shack on the mountain top in the midst of a raging blizzard. We won't tell you of the fearful ride down the mountainside, or of its consequences. Wait-and read the story.

Lajoie, the Star and the Farmer

F EW famous base ball players have enjoyed more popularity than big Napoleon Lajoie, the idol of the American League circuit. Every autumn, when the last game of the season is over, he takes the train for his little farm, and there spends a quiet winter. In our next Sunday's Magazine the famous Frenchman tells Billy Evans what he thinks of farming, and also gives a few of his ideas concerning the game which pays him so handsomely.

What They Would Have Been

DO you know that Mabel Taliaferro, the famous star of "Polly of the Circus," has been offered excellent positions as an architect? And that Robert Edeson just escaped being a doctor? In spite of their popularity, their huge salaries and their applause, some of our greatest actors and actresses have other ambitions, far removed from the footlights. A double page of photographs of these unhappy peo-ple appears in our next Sunday Magazine.

On the Side With Silas

SHORTY McCABE has a pleasant afternoon sympathizing with the idle rich, and giving advice to a millionaire who wants to go back to the farm and raise pigs. Sewell Ford has written many stories for our Sunday Magazine, but none better than this.

This Will Save You Money

THIS Sunday's money-saving idea concerns fuel which may be made by soaking newspapers in water. The children will think that it is a game, and will make enough fuel to last for months before they get tired.

Cut Your Own Necessities

BRUCE BARTON says that if we cut out some of our necessities we will be able to afford more of the luxuries of life; some of our necessities are very foolish, and many of our luxuries are much more important. Read his editorial in our next Sunday Magazine.
